EASTERN DIVISION

PANJI WEAVING CO., LTD.,

Plaintiff,

v.

THE ENTITIES AND INDIVIDUALS IDENTIFIED IN ANNEX “A”

Defendants.

Civil Action No.: 24-cv-01556

COMPLAINT

This is an action for copyright infringement in which Panji Weaving Co., Ltd. (“Plaintiff”) accuses The Entities and Individuals Identified in Annex “A” (“Defendants”) of Copyright Infringement under 17 U.S.C. §501, alleging as follows:

PARTIES

1. Plaintiff was established in 2002 and is located in Shishi, Quanzhou, Fujian, China.
2. Plaintiff focuses on [REDACTED]. Each year, Plaintiff designs and produces thousands of [REDACTED] and garners an exceedingly high sales volume.
3. In 2015, Plaintiff came up with the idea to create an artistic and innovative styled apparel article. In 2016, after months of development and much money, Plaintiff completed the design for uniquely designed [REDACTED]. As such, Plaintiff is the owner of the copyright which is the subject of this action, U.S. Copyright Reg. No. [REDACTED] (the “Plaintiff’s Copyright”).

4. Plaintiff sells products on online platforms to U.S. customers as well as through other foreign trade channels. Plaintiff's products bearing Plaintiff's Copyright are and have been the subject of substantial marketing and promotion by Plaintiff.

5. Plaintiff discovered that numerous sellers on various platforms are misappropriating Plaintiff's Copyright and selling illegal and unauthorized reproductions and/or derivatives of Plaintiff's Copyright.

6. Defendants are individuals and entities who sell and/or offer to sell products that infringe Plaintiff's Copyright (the "Infringing Products") through various "storefronts" via online retail websites accepting U.S. Dollars. Upon information and belief, Defendants reside and operate in the People's Republic of China or other foreign jurisdictions with lax intellectual property enforcement systems, or redistribute products from the same or similar sources in those locations. Defendants have the capacity to be sued pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 17(b).

7. Upon information and belief, in part on the identity of Infringing Products, Defendants receive or purchase the Infringing Products from one or more major manufacturers in China. The identities of the major manufacturers remain unknown to Plaintiff.

8. On information and belief, Defendants, either individually or jointly, operate one or more e-commerce stores under the Seller Aliases listed in Annex "A" attached hereto. Tactics used by Defendants to conceal their identities and the full scope of their operation make it virtually impossible for Plaintiff to learn Defendants' true identities and the exact interworking of their network.

9. At present, many of the Defendants use different nondescript seller aliases and can only be identified through their storefronts and other limited publicly available information. No credible information regarding Defendants' physical addresses is provided. Plaintiff will voluntarily amend its Complaint as needed if Defendants provide additional credible information regarding their identities.

DEFENDANTS' UNLAWFUL CONDUCT

10. According to FY 2021 Intellectual Property Right Seizure Statistics report by U.S. Customs and Border Protection (“CBP”), 51% of the total number of seizure lines originated from mainland China and Hong Kong. Exhibit C, FY 2021 Intellectual Property Right Seizure Statistics report.

11. Third party online platforms do not adequately subject new sellers to verification and confirmation of their identities, allowing infringers to “routinely use false or inaccurate names and addresses when registering with these e-commerce platforms.” Exhibit D, Daniel C.K. Chow, Alibaba, Amazon, and Counterfeiting in the Age of the Internet, 40 NW. J. INT’L L. & BUS. 157, 186 (2020). “At least some e-commerce platforms, little identifying information is necessary for [an infringer] to begin selling” and recommending that “[s]ignificantly enhanced vetting of third-party sellers” is necessary.” Exhibit E, Combating Trafficking in Counterfeit and Pirated Goods prepared by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security’s Office of Strategy, Policy, and Plans. Because these online platforms generally do not require a seller to identify the underlying business entity, infringers can have many different profiles that can appear unrelated even though they are commonly owned and operated. Id. at 39.

12. Defendants employ and benefit from substantially similar advertising and marketing strategies in active concert. Defendants’ e-commerce stores operating under the Seller Aliases appear sophisticated and accept payment in U.S. dollars via credit cards, Alipay, Amazon Pay, and/or PayPal. Defendants’ e-commerce stores operating under the Seller Aliases often include content and images that make it very difficult for consumers to distinguish such stores from an authorized retailer. Many, if not all, of the Defendants employ the same product images, product descriptions, titles and sell identical Infringing Products.

13. E-commerce store operators like Defendants commonly engage in fraudulent conduct when registering the Seller Aliases by providing false, misleading and/or incomplete information to e-commerce platforms to prevent discovery of their true identities, allow for the operation of multiple, interconnected Internet stores, and conceal the entire scope of their interconnected e-commerce operation.

14. E-commerce store operators like Defendants regularly register new Seller Aliases for the purpose of offering for sale and selling Infringing Products. Such Seller Alias registration patterns are one of many common tactics used by e-commerce store operators like Defendants to conceal their identities and the full scope and interworking of their operation, and to avoid being shut down. Even after being shut down, Defendants may conveniently register another storefront under another Seller Alias and continue to sell the Infringing Products.

15. Defendants use many fake names, but their e-commerce stores have unique identifiers, such as similar templates that hide any contact or identification information. Their stores also have other shared features, such as the same registration, payment, check-out, keywords, advertising, price, quantity, grammar, spelling, text, titles, description, videos and images. Moreover, the products they sell are not authorized and have similar flaws, which implies that they come from the same source and that Defendants are connected. As a result, questions of law or fact common to all Defendants will arise in this action.

16. Defendants use different fake names and payment accounts to keep selling despite Plaintiff's actions. Defendants also have bank accounts outside this Court's reach and may move money there to avoid paying any monetary judgment to Plaintiff. In fact, financial records from similar cases show that off-shore sellers frequently transfer money from U.S. accounts to foreign ones.

17. Defendants are working in active concert to knowingly and willfully manufacture, import, distribute, offer for sale, and sell Infringing Products in the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences.

18. Defendants conduct business throughout the United States, including within Illinois and in this District, through the operation of fully interactive commercial websites and online marketplaces operating under the Defendants' Seller Aliases ("Defendant Internet Stores"). Each Defendant targets the United States, including Illinois, and has, upon information and belief, sold, offered for sale, and continues to sell, products containing Plaintiff's Copyright to consumers within the United States and this District.

19. Upon information and belief, Defendants will likely continue to sell and offer for sale products containing Plaintiff's intellectual property, namely products containing in whole, or in part, Plaintiff's Copyright, unless preliminarily and permanently enjoined.

20. Defendants use their Internet-based businesses to infringe the intellectual property rights of Plaintiff and others.

21. The natural and intended byproduct of Defendants' actions is the erosion and destruction of the goodwill associated with Plaintiff's intellectual property rights and the destruction of the legitimate market sector in which it operates.

22. Upon information and belief, at all times relevant hereto, Defendants had actual or constructive knowledge of Plaintiff's intellectual property rights, including Plaintiff's exclusive right to use and license such intellectual property rights.

23. Defendants, and each of them, have willfully copied, reproduced, distributed, sold, and/or offered for sale Plaintiff's Copyright for financial benefit by, without limitation, reproducing Plaintiff's Copyright online and/or products bearing copies of Plaintiff's Copyright for commercial benefit, including without limitation, through Defendants' Internet Stores.

24. Defendants are using identical copies of Plaintiff's Copyright on Infringing Products. True and correct screen captures depicting non-inclusive exemplars of the Defendants' unauthorized use are shown in Exhibit B alongside Plaintiff's Copyright for comparison. These copies and screen captures represent non-inclusive exemplars of the Infringing Products.

25. Defendants advertise their Infringing Products to the consuming public via e-commerce stores on Internet marketplace websites.

26. In advertising their stores and products, Defendants improperly and unlawfully use Plaintiff's Copyright without Plaintiff's permission.

27. By their actions, Defendants are contributing to the creation and maintenance of an illegal marketplace operating in parallel to the legitimate marketplace for Plaintiff's genuine goods.

28. Defendants are causing individual, concurrent and indivisible harm to Plaintiff and the consuming public by (i) depriving Plaintiff and other third parties of their right to fairly compete for space within search engine results and reducing the visibility of Plaintiff's genuine goods on the World Wide Web, (ii) causing an overall degradation of the value associated with the images, and (iii) increasing Plaintiff's overall cost to market its goods and educate consumers via the Internet.

29. As a result, Defendants are defrauding Plaintiff and the consuming public for Defendants' own benefit. Upon information and belief, Defendants facilitate sales by designing their platform accounts so that they appear unknowing to customers to be authorized online retailer, outlet stores, or wholesalers selling genuine products bearing Plaintiff's Copyright. Many of the Defendant Internet Stores look sophisticated and accept payment in US Dollars via credit cards, PayPal, and other legitimate payment methods. Defendant Internet Stores include design elements that make it very difficult for consumers to distinguish such infringing sites from authorized seller websites.

30. Upon information and belief, at all times relevant hereto, Defendants had direct or constructive knowledge of Plaintiff's ownership of Plaintiff's Copyright, including its exclusive right to use and license such Plaintiff's Copyright, through Plaintiff's Internet stores on Amazon.com and elsewhere, along with other publication by Plaintiff, which can be found using internet search engines.

31. Defendants' use of Plaintiff's Copyright, including the promotion and advertisement, reproduction, distribution, sale and offering for sale of their infringing goods, is without Plaintiff's consent or authorization.

32. Defendants are engaging in the above-described infringing activities knowingly and intentionally or with reckless disregard or willful blindness to Plaintiff's rights for the purpose of trading on Plaintiff's goodwill and reputation.

33. Plaintiff has not in any way authorized Defendants to copy, reproduce, duplicate, disseminate, distribute, or create derivative works of Plaintiff's Copyright.

34. If Defendants' intentional infringing activities are not preliminarily and permanently enjoined, Plaintiff and the consuming public will continue to be irreparably harmed.

35. Defendants' infringing activities are likely to cause confusion, deception, and mistake in the minds of consumers before, during and after the time of purchase.

36. Defendants are likely to transfer or conceal their assets to avoid payment of any monetary judgment awarded to Plaintiff.

37. Plaintiff is suffering irreparable injury and has suffered substantial damages as a result of Defendants' unauthorized and infringing activities and their wrongful use of Plaintiff's intellectual property rights.

38. Plaintiff should not have competition from Defendants because Plaintiff never authorized Defendants to use Plaintiff's Copyright.

39. Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

40. This Court has original subject matter jurisdiction over the claims in this action arising under the Copyright Act of 1976, Title 17 U.S.C., §§ 101, et seq., under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1338(a), (b).

41. Defendants are subject to personal jurisdiction in this District because they purposefully direct their activities toward and conduct business with consumers throughout the United States, including within the state of Illinois and this district, through at least the Internet-based e-commerce stores accessible in Illinois.

42. Defendants are further subject to personal jurisdiction in this district because each Defendant directly targets consumers in the United States, including in Illinois, through at least the fully interactive commercial Internet stores operating under the Defendant domain names and/or the Seller Aliases identified in Annex "A" attached hereto (collectively, "Defendants" or "Defendant Internet Stores"). Specifically, Defendants are reaching out to do business with Illinois residents by operating one or more commercial, interactive Internet Stores through which Illinois residents can purchase products infringing Plaintiff's copyrighted artwork and work. Each of the Defendants has targeted sales from Illinois residents by operating online stores that offer shipping to the United States, including Illinois, accepts payment in United States Dollars, and on information and belief, has sold Infringing Products to Illinois residents. Each of the Defendants are committing tortious and illegal activities directed towards the state of Illinois and causing substantial injury in Illinois, and Plaintiff's claims arise out of those activities.

43. Alternatively, Defendants are subject to personal jurisdiction in this district under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(k)(2) because (i) Defendants are not subject to jurisdiction in any state's court of general jurisdiction; and (ii) exercising jurisdiction is consistent with the United States Constitution and laws.

44. Venue is proper in this district under 28 U.S.C. § 1400(a) because Defendants and their agents are subject to the court's personal jurisdiction and therefore reside in this judicial district or may be found here.

45. Venue in this judicial district is otherwise proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(3) because Defendants are subject to the court's personal jurisdiction and not a resident in the United States and therefore there is no district in which any action may otherwise be brought.

JOINDER OF DEFENDANTS IN THIS ACTION IS PROPER

46. Defendants are promoting, selling, offering for sale and distributing goods bearing identical or strikingly similar imitations of Plaintiff's Copyright within this District.

47. Joinder of all Defendants is permissible under Fed. R. Civ. P. 20(a)(2), which permits joinder of persons in an action as Defendants where any right to relief is asserted against them jointly, severally, or in the alternative with respect to or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences; and any question of law or fact common to all Defendants will arise in this action.

48. Joinder of the multiple Defendants is permitted because Plaintiff asserts rights to relief against these Defendants jointly, severally, or in the alternative with respect to or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences; and common questions of law or fact will arise in the action.

49. Joinder of the multiple Defendants serves the interests of convenience and judicial economy, which will lead to a just, speedy, and inexpensive resolution for Plaintiff, Defendants, and this Court.

50. Joinder of the multiple Defendants will not create any unnecessary delay, nor will it prejudice any party. On the other hand, severance is likely to cause delays and prejudice Plaintiff and Defendants alike.

51. Joinder of the multiple Defendants is procedural only and does not affect the substantive rights of any defendant listed on Annex “A” hereto.

52. This court has jurisdiction over the multiple Defendants. Venue is proper in this court for this dispute involving the multiple Defendants.

53. Plaintiff’s claims against the multiple Defendants arise out of the same series of occurrences and all are transactionally related.

54. All Defendants’ actions are logically related. All Defendants are engaging in the same systematic approach of establishing online storefronts to redistribute illegal products from the same or similar sources while maintaining financial accounts that the Defendants can easily conceal to avoid any real liability for their actions.

55. All Defendants undertake efforts to conceal their true identities from Plaintiff to avoid accountability for their activities.

56. All Defendants use payment and financial accounts associated with their online storefronts or the online platforms where their online storefronts reside.

57. All Defendants use their payment and financial accounts to accept, receive, and deposit profits from their illegal activities.

58. All Defendants can easily and quickly transfer or conceal their funds in their use of payment and financial accounts to avoid detection and liability in the event their efforts are discovered, or Plaintiff obtains monetary award.

59. All Defendants understand that their ability to profit through anonymous Internet stores is enhanced as their numbers increase, even though they may not all engage in direct communication or coordination.

60. Defendants' business names, associated payment accounts, and any other alias seller names or e-commerce stores used in connection with the sale of infringements of Plaintiff's intellectual property rights are essential components of Defendants' online activities and are one of the means by which Defendants further their infringement scheme and cause harm to Plaintiff.

61. Defendants are using infringements of Plaintiff's intellectual property rights to drive Internet consumer traffic to their e-commerce stores and decreasing the size and value of Plaintiff's legitimate marketplace and intellectual property rights at Plaintiff's expense.

62. Defendants, through the sale and offer to sell Infringing Products, are directly and unfairly competing with Plaintiff's economic interests in the state of Illinois and causing Plaintiff harm and damage within this jurisdiction.

63. Upon information and belief, at all times relevant hereto, Defendants had actual or constructive knowledge of Plaintiff's intellectual property rights, including Plaintiff's exclusive right to use and license such intellectual property rights.

No. [REDACTED] was duly and legally issued by the United States Copyright Office for a work entitled "[REDACTED]", with an effective date of registration on [REDACTED] and date of first publication on [REDACTED]. to the public based upon Plaintiff's copyrighted works in violation of 17 U.S.C. § 106, as seen in Exhibit B.

71. Due to Defendants' Infringing Use as alleged herein, Defendants, and each of them, have obtained direct and indirect profits they would not otherwise have realized but for their infringement of Plaintiff's rights in Plaintiff's Copyright. As such, Plaintiff is entitled to disgorgement of Defendants' profits directly and indirectly attributable to Defendants' infringement of Plaintiff's Copyright in an amount to be established at trial.

73. On information and belief, Defendants routinely and intentionally infringe the intellectual property rights of others, including but not limited to, acting with willful blindness and/or reckless disregard.

74. Due to Defendants', and each of their, acts of infringement, Plaintiff has actually and proximately suffered actual, general, and special damages in an amount to be established at trial under 17 U.S.C. § 504(b) and (c).

81. On information and belief, Plaintiff alleges that Defendants, and each of them, are vicariously liable for the infringement alleged herein because they had the right and ability to supervise the infringing conduct and because they had a direct financial interest in the infringing conduct. Specifically, Defendants, and each of them, profited in connection with the Infringing Use, and were able to supervise the distribution, broadcast, and publication of the Infringing Use.

82. By reason of the Defendants', and each of their, acts of contributory and vicarious infringement as alleged above, Plaintiff has suffered general and special damages in an amount to be established at trial.
